2008 National Electrical Code Changes Related to Power Quality

Program Summary:

Grounding and Bonding of electrical systems, sensitive electronic, and communications equipment is one of the most important and least understood activities in the electrical, data processing and communications industry. The National Electrical Code (NEC) addresses these issues along with other power quality related wiring and installation concerns. The 2008 NEC has recently been approved by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) membership and will be gradually phased in by various jurisdictions including those within our area. Ms Borek, who as NJ's "Chief Electrical Sub-Code Official", will provide highlights and an overview of recent changes included in the 2008 NEC. Attendees will receive a certificate of attendance for continuing education purposes.

Speaker: Suzanne Borek, Code Specialist, NJ Department of Community Affairs

Ms. Borek, as Code Specialist in the NJ Department of Community Affairs, Division of Codes and Standards, Code Assistance Unit, serves as New Jersey's "Chief Electrical Sub-Code Official". Suzanne's duties with the State of New Jersey's Department of Community Affairs Code Assistance Unit include writing regulations and the interpretation and adoption of codes. She is the liaison to the Electrical Subcode Committee and is also on the test writing committee for the National Certification Program for Construction Code Inspectors (NCPCCI). She participates at the annual NFPA electrical inspector's forum and is a member of the UL Electrical Code council. She has been licensed for the past eleven years as an Electrical Inspector, Subcode and Construction Official. She is certified to teach continuing education courses for the Department of Community Affairs and the Board of Examiners of Electrical Contractors.
